

Changing Personnel

2018.06.18

With the upcoming resignation of the Assistant Superintendent, consideration is given to changing roles in the administration. In particular, the elimination of the Assistant Superintended and reassigning those duties in to two separate positions.

The Director of Operations would oversee the support systems for maintenance, transportation, and building and Grounds. This could be either a certified or non-certified position. But the person would work in the above areas with responsibilities with eth custodial and transportation staff, as well as being the liaison for building projects and maintenance. (260-day contract) Possible current staff: Scott Wessel, Eric Johnson)

The Direct of Student Services would oversee the many federal programs, such as special education, the Title programs (Title I, IIa, III, and IV), high ability, curriculum, and data. This person would oversee the budgets of these programs and work closely with the corporation treasurer in the financial matters. While not necessary an expert in all areas, this person would oversee and administer the programs working with coordinators that are currently in place to help drive the activities. They can also serve to assist schools/teacher s in using and reporting data. (224-day contract) Possible current staff: Lori Rayl

Other considerations:

- Look for a corporation School Safety Specialist
- Combine the AD position into one for grades 6-12 – similar to those in middle/high school combinations.
- Possible School Safety Specialists:: Scott Wessel, Troy Cloum
- TCSC will need a Reading Coach for next year trained in Dyslexia (possible: Shari Cottingham)
